

Accreditation

Last Updated Friday, 13 August 2010

Accreditation Courses : The National Coaching Accreditation Scheme is administered by the Australian Sports Commission and is designed to ensure that coaches obtain a minimum standard of qualification before coaching and also allows coaches to gain further qualifications in their sport. Every four years Squash Australia resubmits its coach education and accreditation guidelines to the ASC which then licenses Squash Australia to deliver the squash coaching education and accreditation system.

Squash Australia then, currently offers the following coach education and accreditation courses for 5 levels of coaching Level O Orientation to coaching : (Not a coaching accreditation course)

an introductory course for people involved in the organisation and co-ordination of junior club NCAS Level 1 Beginning

Coaching : The minimum level of accreditation which focuses on the teaching of beginners NCAS Level 2 Squash Coach

Senior Coach : Aims to assist and qualify coaches who wish to work in the talent development area NCAS Level 3

Squash Coach : This course is designed to equip the coach with the knowledge and skills to coach at elite levels in the state, national and international arena NCAS High Performance Coaching Award : This is an individualised course of study which is fully funded by the Australian Sports Commission and is only provided to outstanding individual coaches

OTHER COURSES - TOTBALL (Not a coaching accreditation course) Participation/introductory program for 5-7 year olds